This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-11 are allowed.

The rejection of the claims over Benacchi in view of Rispoli has been dropped in response to applicants arguments relative to the claims.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 12-20 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Budd (4,910,031) for reasons of record used in rejecting claims 1-20.

Applicant argues that the adhesive in Budd is added in a liquid state while the adhesive in the present invention is applied in a dry state. Applicant argues the various advantages of using a dry adhesive in terms of the process energy saved by his process. This argument has been considered but is not persuasive because the claims are directed to a product and not to the method of making the product.

Applicant argues that one of ordinary skill in the art would not expect to use a topping of the size set forth in the claims. But no unobvious or unexpected difference is seen from the size of the toppings in Budd and the size of the toppings of the claims. The low range of 1.7mm appears to examiner to be about the size of a peppercorn. Applicant urges that examiner has not proven that the toppings and substrate of Budd would necessarily have a low water activity. The water activity of the binder is disclosed at column 2, line 43 to have a low water activity. Further it is very well known in the art that dried foods have low water activity. Since the Patent Office does not have the facilities for examining and comparing applicant's seasoning bits with the Budds savory snack foods, the burden is upon applicants to show an unobvious distinction between the material structural and functional characteristics of the claimed savory snack foods of the prior art. See In re Best, 562 F.2d 1252, 195 USPQ 430 (CCPA) 1977) and In re Fitzgerald et al., 205 USPQ 594.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
